

JEFFERY MILLER

Born and raised in New Orleans by his maternal grandparents, trombonist and singer Jeffery Miller understands that you don't get to where you want to be without sacrifice. Jeffery was 15 years old when he performed at Carnegie Hall with the Preservation Hall Jazz Band for their 50th anniversary celebration. When jazz vanguard Wynton Marsalis hand picked him out of high school to join him at Juilliard, Jeffery knew that he would have to leave his aging grandparents behind to chase his dream in New York.

Now age 28, Miller has scored 5 GRAMMY® nominations for contributions to projects by Jon Batiste, Derek Bermel, and John Legend. Graduating from Juilliard with both his bachelor's and master's degrees (in 2018 and 2020 respectively), he's set on a path to make his mark as a solo artist merging two musical souls. One remains deeply rooted in the melodic jazz trombone that rings closer to home, and the other in his voice echoing the sound of contemporary R&B artists like Ty Dolla $ign and Frank Ocean. Both are intertwined by a tale of two cities and the people in them who make Jeffery Miller who he is today. Jeffery is currently touring the world with Jonas Brothers as their trombonist.

PRESS

"Between brass and funk bands, trad groups, and high school marching bands, the trombone remains the most prevalent instrument in the Crescent City, and Jeffery Miller is one of the most impressive of its younger players."
